

I appreciate the opportunity to state my opposition to the waste of time eliminating SPAM from my Email site. It is difficult to keep changing one's Email address, and I am now receiving SPAM at the rate of one every 15 minutes. I am retired, and I do not have a business, so my difficulty is not mammoth-- it is an irritation. But I don't know whether I could handle this if I had a business to run by computer from my home. I think that it would be SPAM RAGE -- a new kind of rage to add to the stresses of everyday life in this twenty-first century!

I do not feel that any recipient should pay for the cost of being "spammed", and I want to add my protest to the multitude of complainers. I am also very much concerned that there are laws broken with regard to pornography presented (or sold) to minors. SPAM doesn't have the right to solicit children!
